WHAT IS GOING ON IN WESTERY

Activity of Telephone Company—Guarding Against Spread of Contagious Diseases—Death of Mrs. John F. Crandall—In-State League Holiday Game Schedule Accepted.

During the past week amendment has been made to the act incorporating the Westery Automatic Telephone Company which authorizes an increase in capitalization at the discretion of the stockholders, not to exceed $200,000. When the company was organized in 1902 the capital stock was $25,000. The following year, when the telephone service was extended to the towns of Hopkinton, Charlestown and Richmond, the stock was increased to $100,000. There has been a steady growth of business and there is demand for an extensive service, and to meet this demand and to improve the property of the company and extend the service, the general assembly was asked to grant authority to increase the capital stock to $200,000. That bill was passed at that time, but only sufficient to meet all requirements, as the stockholders may direct.

Another case of diphtheria, the ninth during the present visitation of the disease in Westery, was discovered Saturday morning in the basement of No. 9 Pond street, in the same house where the first case appeared. The latest case is in the family of Herman Jechkawkak and besides the one affected there are five other children in the family. Every precautionary measure has been taken to keep the disease confined to the one case in the family. The attending physician made prompt return to Lewis Stanton, health officer, and the premises were quarantined. Of the nine cases, two have proven fatal. Saturday two cases of diphtheria were reported in the family of John Bantley, in Moss street, Pawcatuck, and reported to Dr. Congdon, health officer for the town of Stonington.

Mrs. John F. Crandall, who died in Bakus hospital, Norwich, Saturday, was a former resident of Westery, where she had membership in the First Baptist church. About four years ago she removed to North Stonington, going from there to the hospital for a surgical operation. She is survived by her husband, an inmate at the Rhode Island Soldiers' home in Bristol. Burial will be at River Bend. Mrs. Crandall was nearly 74 years old.

There was a peculiar railroad accident in Westery Saturday afternoon, just east of the station and near the Dixon bridge. The local freight due in Westery at 4:30 had "dropped" cars at Westery and was just proceeding towards New London when the accident occurred. After the locomotive and fourteen cars of the train had crossed over the switch to the siding at the east end of the Westery freight yard, the sharp flange of a Lehigh Valley box car split the switch and ran onto the siding and off the rails, pulling two cars with it before the train was stopped. The derailed cars were about in the center of the train and the other cars remained on the west-bound track. Traffic was not materially delayed, as the derailed trains were sent into Westery on the east-bound track to Westery, and transferring to the regular track here.

With part of the train on the siding and the rest on the main line, each pulling against the other while the train was in motion, hauled the tracks about six inches near each other, ties and all. The rolling stock was not damaged. A wrecking train from Midway arrived soon after the accident and the derailed cars were put back on the rails of the main line and the freight train then proceeded, while section men made immediate attention to repairing the tracks.

The schedule committee of the Rhode Island-Connecticut baseball league, composed of Messrs. Fairbrother of Stonington, Mitchell of Westery, Conolly of Mystic, McCarthy of White Rock, Tucker of Carolina and Manchester of Wakefield, met Sunday and compared notes in the office of the league president, Dr. John M. O'Connell, at White Rock. The committee will meet again during the week to decide upon a schedule to be presented at the regular meeting of the league next Sunday.

The schedule was accepted insofar as it refers to holiday games, as follows: May 30, Stonington at Westery, Mystic at White Rock, May 4, Stonington at Mystic, Mystic at Stonington, White Rock at Wakefield, Labor day, Stonington at White Rock, Mystic at Wakefield. Carolina will play all holiday games at Wakefield.

Local Laconics.
Charles P. Chapman is seriously ill. William D. Cameron returned Saturday from a southern trip.

Abe the Newsboy of New London was here Sunday arranging for his apartment at the Pawcatuck armory in the athletic exhibition.

A leak in the gas main in Dixon street was discovered and closed Saturday. It is said that the leak has existed for six years, at a loss to the gas company of seventy cents a day.

Lewis Stanton, health officer, with the assistance of the police, is to enforce the ordinance that makes it illegal for swine to be kept in the compact part of the town. The offenders are chiefly residents of Little Italy, where diphtheria prevails.

The house and lot at the corner of Pleasant and Pierce streets has been sold by Antonio to Giuseppe Saldemio. The William H. Mitchell farm has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Mitchell. Mary R. Fidler has purchased the house at the corner of the street and the street from the heirs of James Bill.

These Westery ladies have been invited to act as patronesses at the reception and ball to be given in Infirmary hall, Providence, by the Knights of Columbus of that state. Mrs. John W. Sweeney, Mrs. Edward J. Feneelon, Mrs. John M. O'Connell, Mrs. Joseph T. Murphy, Mrs. George H. Saldemio, Michael H. Scanlon and Mrs. James A. Welch.

Sister Mary Raymond, a member of the Sisterhood of St. Mount St. Joseph's convent, Hartford, died in the convent on Farmington avenue at 5 o'clock Friday morning. Sister Raymond was Martha Shannon, daughter of Owen and Ann (Wright) Shannon, of Hartford. She was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1856. Miss Shannon entered religion in 1874, becoming a novice at the convent in Hartford in 1878. Her first position of prominence was as mother superior of the convent of mercy in Westery, R. I.

Should Make Wills.
The necessity of making a will for the final disposition of one's property after death is a subject to which the attention of which most men approach with extreme reluctance. There is in it that accepted and direct preparation for personal dissolution from the contemplation of which human nature naturally shrinks, and which seems to attach to no other duty generally and voluntarily performed. The purchase of a burial lot is usually a melancholy proceeding, in spite of the floral attractiveness of the cemetery, but there are many chances that it will not be our duty to fill. We put it to use, and even with the best of men an inward and selfish satisfaction commonly comes to the thought. The question of insuring one's life is thought to be productive of suggestions of death. It is said that the most men direct their attention, and thus include, by preoccupation, the investment of their money in life insurance. This feature in life insurance is one which holds out to the average mind strong inducements, on account of its character as a disguise to more important but unpleasant transactions. Only a million dollars. But it takes a great deal more than that to make a man rich. Sometimes as much as $500,000.

Josh Billings once said: "Young man, make all you can, and if you don't die rich and go to the devil, I miss my guess." Robert J. Burdette in Los Angeles Times.

A Poor Denial.
Mrs. Knox Jr. can hardly hope to make a good impression on her distinguished but somewhat disappointed father-in-law if she continues to manifest a disposition to show resentment to the report that she once worked in a department store. That is as honorable a place for a girl to earn her living as any other, and if Mrs. Knox is being quoted as saying that "her father would never have permitted her to do such a thing." Some of the best men and women in this country have had a humble beginning in the same way. The fact that they did work for their living was subsequently the proudest recollection of their lives. There is no occasion for one denying having earned his or her own living, but on the contrary they should be proud of it. Some day and she may not be so proud of the statement of her aunt preventing her from working or of her own thoughtlessness in making announcement of it.—New Britain Herald.

His Toxic Verbiage.
Raisins is reported to have been poisoned. Perhaps he has been eating his words.—Boston Advertiser.

Baron Rosen, Russian ambassador at Washington, forwards through the department of state a number of copies of the report of the agricultural and industrial exposition to be held at Ekaterinslav, southern Russia, next fall. These may be obtained by interested persons from the bureau of manufactures.

MYSTIC

Mitchell-Hoxie Marriage—J. Alden Rathbun's 71st Birthday Party—Village Free from Contagious Diseases.

The marriage of Miss Carrie Hoxie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hoxie, and Louis Mitchell, son of William Mitchell, took place on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. W. E. Bates officiating. Mr. Mitchell is connected with the Lyceum amusement company, and the bride and Mrs. Mitchell will at once go to housekeeping in a nicely furnished home on West Main street.

71st Birthday Celebrated.
At the home of J. Alden Rathbun about thirty relatives and friends gathered to help him celebrate his 71st birthday, Saturday evening. Games were played and there was vocal and instrumental music. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The Flaherty farm, about a mile north of the village, was sold to Walter C. Morgan last week. Mr. Morgan intends to fix up the buildings and to improve the land.

Price Cue Offered.
At the Mystic Hook and Ladder company is a billiard cue presented by Joseph D. W. York. It was given to the player who receives the most points in a game of billiards played on the company table. It is a handsome piece of work which the members will endeavor to win. These games are to be played when Mr. Cray is in town, so that he may enjoy the company.

A request for meeting of Charity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, the order voted to accept the invitation of the chapter to meet with them on Friday night at New London.

At the special service in the Congregational church Sunday morning at 4:30 the pastor, Rev. E. F. Barnshaw, spoke on Washington Gladden, the author of the book "The Christian's Home." He rendered some fine music, Mrs. J. Elmer Newbury rendering a fine solo.

Dr. C. F. Congdon, health officer, on Saturday raised the quarantine from the home of Herman Holdridge, Herman Holdridge, having had the scarlet fever and diphtheria. This is the last contagious disease in the village.

The members of the Klam Klub had an interesting time in the W. C. T. U. rooms in West Main street Saturday night. The supper was served at 8 o'clock, in charge of Mrs. Carrie Latham and Mrs. Charles H. Briggs. After supper the evening was spent in merry-making.

About the Village.
Mrs. John T. Brooks is entertaining her mother, Mrs. E. M. Dibble of Hartford.

Mrs. Isabella MacKenzie left for Ledyard Saturday morning. She is the mother of her daughter, Mrs. Enos M. Gray.

Sonnes Eldridge has returned to New York after a visit with his aunt, Mrs. John O. Field.

Mrs. George Bailey of Providence is the guest of Mrs. Delight Bailey. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lamb are entertaining Miss Blanche Judge of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mrs. Theodore Bailey leaves tomorrow for New York to join her husband who is employed there.

S. S. Brown MacKenzie is spending a few days in Norwich.

Walter Knight spent Sunday with his parents in Providence.

A special meeting of Benevolence chapter, Royal Arch, was held on Saturday evening, at which the Royal Arch degree was conferred on the following: Mr. William Neldinger, Mr. Roy D. Judd of New York is in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Manning Miner are guests of relatives at Allyn's Point.

Miss Edith Cooper has returned from New York.

More Than Dollars.
The chief end of man isn't to get rich. It isn't at all essential that anybody should be very rich, or even a millionaire, which doesn't measure very high in the scale of riches to-day. You probably know several millionaires to whom you can bow and speak with whom you are on friendly terms, who are courteous and kind to you; rather than other men; rather economical with their smiles, and who are miserably with their "hawa-haw."

And you are on good terms with a hundred clerks, who are good clerks and who will be good clerks so long as they live and who are the jolliest fellows to go with or stay in with or run around with; who get $5 worth of fun out of a 50 cent seat at the ball game, who whistle and laugh and sing without knowing why; who live every hour of their life and who talk more about their little bungalow on its 50 foot lot than ever Schwab did about his million dollar palace on Riverside Drive, and who in the end and joy of a little home have been known to run the mower over the handkerchief lawn and dig in the patch of a garden on Sunday. It doesn't take a great deal to make a man a millionaire. Only a million dollars. But it takes a great deal more than that to make him rich. Sometimes as much as $500,000.

Josh Billings once said: "Young man, make all you can, and if you don't die rich and go to the devil, I miss my guess." Robert J. Burdette in Los Angeles Times.

An airship is being built for the English navy with a lifting capacity of 20 tons, but it will never carry more than five. It will be 500 feet long and have two motors which will develop 400 horsepower each. It is hoped that the airship will be a success and prove capable of moving 50 miles an hour.

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Holly Springs, Miss.—"Words are inadequate for me to express what I feel about the wonderful cures which have done for me. The doctors said I had a tumor, and I had an operation, but was soon as bad again. I wrote to you for advice, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I feel so well that my friends keep asking me what has helped me so much, and I gladly recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIE EDWARDS, Holly Springs, Miss.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—tumor. If you have mysterious pains, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unqualified testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

AND GIVE STAMPS TO BOOT

The answer is easy. Our purchasing power is unlimited. We are compelled as a matter of necessity to do our own importing and manufacturing, and buy goods by the train load to keep supplied our 325 stores or more. Buying in such enormous quantities we save 25 to 40 per cent. Consequently we can afford and do sell 25 to 40 per cent. cheaper than any other house in the business.
